BOYCOTT LOOMING

Washington Calm, Believing Substitutes Will Cut Anthracite Market.

By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright 1923 by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—President Coolidge and his cabinet do not fear an anthracite coal strike. They think the miners and operators of hard coal have more to fear than the consumers. Should there be an anthracite strike this fall, the conviction of most everybody in the government is that the American people will grow so tired of the constant wrangling over hard coal prices and the inconveniences of frequent strikes that once and for all a large body of consumers will begin using soft coal and will permanently cut down the market for hard coal.

The impression was conveyed from official sources that if the contending forces in the anthracite controversy really go to the extreme of permitting a strike, they will simply be cutting off their noses to spite their faces. Instead of the weapon of necessity and indispensability which has enabled both operators and consumers to live together, the strike would be a self-inflicted wound.

DERAILMENT HURTS SCORE

Ann Arbor, Mich.—With more than a score of persons injured, officials of the Michigan Central railway today were investigating the derailing of the four rear coaches of their Winnipeg flyer just east of here last night.

It was the unofficial belief that a broken rail sent the three pullmans and baggage car careening into the ditch, toppling them on their sides in the ditch with injury to nearly half of the passengers occupying them.

Mrs. E. E. Stegman of Oak, Neb., was the most seriously hurt, suffering an injury to her skull. A score of others were injured less seriously.

EDISON'S ILLNESS CONSISTS OF COLD AND CUT FINGER

Marquette, Mich.—The extent of the disability of Thomas A. Edison, aged inventor, was a finger cut slightly on the edge of a piece of window glass and a slight cold, contracted on the journey across the lake from Traverse City to Marquette, according to an official announcement from the Ford camping party today.

Due to the care he had exercised, it was said today the cold has practically disappeared.

To rid himself of it, Mr. Edison has not entered into the activities of the party so freely as before entering the peninsula, remaining in his automobile when steps were made.

Colorado Farms Swept by Flood As Dam Bursts

(By Associated Press.)

Pueblo.—Fertile farms and ranches in the Arkansas valley in southeastern Colorado experienced one of the worst floods in recent years last night and early this morning when an immense irrigation reservoir on the Apishapa river north of Fowler, cracked and precipitated a great rush of water down the valley. The reservoir was more than 100 feet deep and had a storage capacity sufficient to irrigate 20,000 acres. It drains a 90-mile water shed. Recent rains and cloudbursts in the region imposed too great a strain on the structure and part of it gave way. A wall of water variously estimated at from 10 to 20 feet high rushed down the valley when the dam collapsed. The break had been foreseen and a telegraph warning had been sent out so that residents in the path of the flood had time to escape.

No loss of life had been reported early this morning. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

THOUSAND HOMELESS IN FLOOD

(By Associated Press.)

Fowler.—Approximately 1,000 persons are homeless today and damage estimated at $1,000,000 has been done by flood waters which rushed down the valleys of the Apishapa and Arkansas rivers yesterday and today following the breaking of an irrigation project dam near here.

Five hundred persons have moved out of the danger zone in north La Junta, according to reports received here and approximately that number fled from their homes in the valley below the dam.

Observers saw a dozen houses, and many bodies of cattle and horses, and many bodies of crops tumbling along on the crest of the flood after the dam broke yesterday.

IRISH REBELS, IF VICTORS, PLAN TO ABROGATE TREATY

(By Associated Press.)

London.—An insight into the program of the Irish republicans, in the event the De Valera faction wins in the election next week, is given in a manifesto published by the Dublin Irish republicans.

De Valera, according to the Belfast correspondent of the Morning Post, assuming that the republicans win a majority in the dail, the manifesto says that among other things they will take possession of the legislature and will form a ministry probable with the support of the laborites. They will ignore the treaty and everything that implies British suzerainty, including the governor general whose salary will immediately cease.

The irregulars continue the manifesto will reduce the army to 5,000 or less to 1,000 men, substituting a volunteer force. They will cut salaries of judges and other officials. They plan neither to acknowledge nor respect the dispatch adds, any internal boundary line between the north and south of Ireland.

The manifesto also calls for the evacuation of the harbors and observe the three-mile limit.

BRITISH PREMIER PLANS TO CONFER WITH POINCARÉ

FURTHER EXCHANGE OF LENGTHY NOTES HELD USELESS.

NOW ON VACATION

Baldwin Will See Frenchman on Return; London Press Is Disappointed.

(By Associated Press.)

London.—Recognizing the futility of a further exchange of lengthy notes on the reparations issue, Prime Minister Baldwin has decided to meet Premier Poincaré upon the former's return from his vacation at Aix Les Bains, it became known today. The British premier will not formally ask his French colleague for an appointment, but will make known quietly, through second parties his willingness to discuss the whole reparations problem in the light of the French premier's latest note.

Press Disappointed.—A majority of the morning newspapers commenting on Poincaré's note, were disappointed over the substance of the note and declare that, in effect, it leaves things just as they are.

The Daily Telegraph concludes there is little hope for an agreement between Great Britain and France, either with regard to the Ruhr or the amount of reparations or the question of interest-free debts.

"For all practical purposes," it says, "the note leaves things precisely as they were and indicates no approval of the common ground on which Great Britain and France can hope to renew the united action which both nations deeply desire."

Small Hopes Seen

The Daily Chronicle thinks that taken at its face value, the note would put an end to all hopes of common action between Great Britain and France, but believes that the words are addressed to French critics rather than to Great Britain. It thinks it possible to read between the lines some indication of French willingness to come to terms.

Advices received in London from Berlin last evening said that the German government had decided to inflict the death penalty on the more flagrant violators of the new measures to restore the currency. Direct and later dispatches from the German capital, however, contain no reference to such a decision on the part of the government, although some advices said that one minister had threatened the death penalty.

PIRATES ROB SAILING SHIP ON ATLANTIC

Yarmouth, N. S.—The Nova Scotia "liquor" schooner J. Scott, a victim of pirates off the coast of Nova Scotia, was captured by four additional pirates on Monday, having arrived at this port.

The schooner had cleared three weeks ago, "Nassau," read her clearance papers, but she got no farther south than Massachusetts.

Last Monday a motor boat came alongside. Two men stepped aboard and descended into the schooner's cabin. The captain, Harry Hays, was taken to the cabin.

Moore, first mate, and his crew of three, heard shots coming from the cabin where the captain called for help. They started toward him but seven armed men, hidden aboard the vessel, sprang to the schooner's deck and drove the men down into the fore-cabin. Then the pirates departed with the captain's money.

TIP FROM PRESS

Reporter Gives Police Clev That Results in Arrest of Suspect.

(By Associated Press.)

Barnesville, Ark. L. Jensen, 37, and Jack Galloway, 34, both of Madison, are in jail here, charged with the murder of Robert Jaeger, a 60 year old hermit, who was killed at his lonely shack on the night of Aug. 2.

Early this morning, after hours of questioning by Sheriff W. H. Ode of Sauk county and H. J. Eohn, district attorney, Jensen confessed to having been at the Jaeger shack the night of the killing, and named Galloway as the man who struck Jaeger down.

Jensen was arrested in Madison late yesterday on the tip of William Dawson, a newspaper man, and brought here. For five hours and a half he stubbornly denied any knowledge of the killing, but early this morning his nerve began to fail him, and his questioner broke through his defenses.

Both men under arrest are painters and were employed by Fred Kline, Madison master painter. On the afternoon of the murder, the men were at Kline's place, and Galloway at one time had been employed on Jaeger's farm and had heard that (Continued on page 5)

Definite Move for Coal Seen

(By Associated Press.)

Washington.—Although not yet ready to reveal the full scope of its plans, the United States government is preparing to move decisively to prevent serious consequences from the threatened suspension of anthracite production, Sept. 1.

Not only will the railroads, soft coal producers and state governments be expected to do what they can to inhibit any such suspension, but federal officials, in every agency from the White House down, will stand ready to throw the weight of their authority into the balance if it becomes necessary.

In the preparations now being made for eventualities, the possibility of averting a final break between the operators and miners has been almost completely submerged. There was no indication in any quarter today that further overtures for a settlement were in prospect, although the coal commission, which already has intervened without success, continued its session.

It was said to be at work on a report to President Coolidge.

Invading Rock County Herds Win Many Ribbons at Dane County Fair

With 600 cattle being shown, the Rock county show herd continued to stay in the blue ribbon class during the judging of cattle at the Dane county fair, Madison, Wednesday and Thursday. Dane county had a county aggregation of 60 Holstein and 20 Guernsey to compete against the invading Rock county herds and, except for these new entries, the competition on dairy cattle was about the same as at Monroe.

Rock county did especially well on Holsteins, only missing two blue ribbons and capturing all the championships with J. C. Cort, Lake Mills, as the judge.

Rock Championships
Senior bull championship went to the "Ollie" bull and junior championship to King Police Two, a senior calf. The calf owned by M. O. and M. M. Douglas, Green county, placed as junior champion at Monroe, was out of the money at Madison. There was considerable changing of the places on Holsteins. The two year old heifer of John Goldthorpe, Janesville, Queen Howie Vale, was first in her class and won a blue ribbon. Junior female championship went to one of the twin heifer senior calves from the farm of Funk Brothers.

The only slip made on the Rock county cattle was when May King's Duke of Waukesha, the aged Guernsey bull, was defeated by a bull owned by A. L. H. of Mount Zion, an unlooked for decision.

Jersey Championships
Douglas' Royal Majesty again defeated the Rock county entries and was made grand champion of the Jersey bulls. The bull calf from the same herd, W. O. Douglas and Son, Janesville, won the blue ribbon in his class.

In Ayreshires the cattle owned by J. C. Nisbet won in every class they were entered and took all the championships.

For the first time this fall season, the Rock county Milking Shorthorn herd had competition, a herd being shown from the farm of Walter Smith, Lodi. The county herd took the top prizes in the classes shown. Telluride's Fame, the two year old bull from the James J. Telluride farm, was made grand champion, and a heifer from the J. J. Telluride herd was made champion female.

Holstein Exhibitors included the Rock and Dane counties, Herds, J. D. McDonald, West Salem, John M. Kelly, H. A. Drake, and O. M. and M. A. Douglas. The county herd was selected from the following farms: Earl Smith, former Belmont-Rock county cow testing station; Walter J. de Herdman, Oshkosh and Kenning, K. L. Hatch, Fahremann Brothers, Arthur Alling, J. D. Stone, Halden Brothers, A. L. Eukhan, and John and Fred Wittwer.

It was the first attempt of Dane county to make a co-operative showing and while other exhibitors took the top prizes, the neighboring county did well.

In the are bull class, Walcott's Ollie Hylard was a winner, with the Holstein bull of W. T. Hunt placing second. There was a strong class of eight and the Hunt bull was showing out of his age class but defeated the age bull of the Bruce herd for second place.

Holstein Classes
The Ward bull was second in the junior yearling class, the J. A. Craig senior bull calf was first and junior champion and the junior bull calf of John Goldthorpe second in a large class.

On age cows, an entry from the John M. Kelly farm, Bayaboo, took the blue, with H. A. Bruce second and the aged cow from the herd of J. W. Jones, Rock county, third. From then on, Rock county animals took the top positions until the group classes.

The Goldthorpe heifer was first as a two year old, with the heifer from the J. A. Craig farm third, and John M. Kelly second. In the senior yearling class the Rock county farm entry won an easy winner, with the Craig heifer third, and J. D. McDonald second. The Rock county farm came in for another blue in the junior yearling class, with Kelly, McDonald and Kelly placing in the order named. On senior heifers the twin calves from the farm of Funk Brothers took first and second, with Harry Durst, a club boy, third. On junior calves, John Goldthorpe's entry took first, with McDonald, first, second, and Kelly fourth.

Holsteins from Rock county have competed against the second county collection since being out, and both times have outscored the other herd. It was a closer race at Green county than at Dane county.

In the Holstein groups the graded herd of J. A. Craig placed first, second on calf herd with entries owned by John Goldthorpe, second on pair of calves, owned by the same breeder. In the get-of-sire, the county placed fifth.

Guernsey Classes
Except in the class for age bulls, the Rock county Guernsey herd came through in a creditable manner. L. P. Harting, Chippewa Falls, took the ribbons.

The winning age bull, Lassie Boy, will be taken to Milwaukee, and the two animals will clash again in the ring.

The two year old entry of W. J. Dougan won the blue and in the senior calf class the bull calf owned by Ralph Tratt placed third. Dane county brothers scored in the other bull classes, with M. E. Smithback winning the senior yearling class and M. E. Rasmussen, the junior yearling. Rock county did not have entries in these divisions. In the junior bull class the county scored for the blue and red, first going to Otto Hanson and second to Alie Knudson.

In the age cow class the entry of Dr. W. A. Mann won first, a heifer from the same herd second in the two year old class. In the senior yearling class, Dr. Mann's cattle scored second and fourth. In the junior yearling class, Rasmussen took first place, with Rock county second with a heifer from the Alie Knudson herd and third on a heifer from the Ralph Tratt farm. In the senior calf class, Islander's Goldie, owned by Dr. Mann, was first, Mount Zion second, a Ralph Tratt entry third, and fifth went to

KIWANIAN PICNIC AT DELAVAN LAKE

Kiwanians joined by their wives, children and friends enjoyed their annual outing Wednesday, picnicking at Delavan Lake, where games and contests, followed by a picnic dinner at the Hotel London and a musical program, made the day a memorable one. More than 125 attended.

Frank Trevorrath's team defeated the City Stars captained by Brock and Edward Smith 1-0. Mrs. Trevorrath's team of women players was too much for the team led by Mrs. George Stahlfeldt. COAL MEN ONES TO WORRY, BELIEF OF CAL COOLIDGE miners to exact from the public higher prices, the use of substitutes may be practiced this year on such an unprecedented scale as to injure permanently the hard coal business.

Substitutes are Urged
Although the government can not be a party to the injury of any industry or to the promotion of the use of substitutes for hard coal, the fact is every step taken in the last few weeks had tended in that direction.

Encouragement has been given to those institutions which have carried on a campaign of education throughout regions where hard coal is ordinarily consumed—oil being suggested wherever possible as well as the use of soft coal.

The prejudices against soft coal have been in large part removed. Testimony showing that soft coal can be obtained in larger quantities than hard coal, and that other substitutes cheaper than hard coal can be effectively used, is being distributed by business organizations in the hope of killing the coal strike.

Soft Coal Boosted

The government estimates that an addition of only 10 per cent of the soft coal supply will have to be mined in order to take care of nearly all the anthracite coal needs of the country. This is taking into consideration, of course, the fact that many people already have large supplies of hard coal in their cellars. Also, it takes into account the existence of a plentiful amount of soft coal in excess of the needs of the industries using soft coal.

Should the use of substitutes begin on a large scale, the anthracite miners and operators will not dare permit the strike to continue very long, or else they will face a diminished market on the one hand or the inevitable necessity next year of bringing their prices down to persuade the people who have been using the cheaper substitutes to go back to the more expensive hard coal.

Washington 34
Although there is calmness in official Washington with respect to the coming anthracite strike which the miners and operators of hard coal never have expected, few people have realized until today the immense preparations which have been made for many months to meet the anthracite strike, advance information about which seems to have been generally distributed. Naturally the parties to the anthracite strike are skeptical about the use of substitutes. They think people will not bother with them and that the substitutes will be found more expensive in the end. But the government rather has the feeling that while prejudices against substitutes may exist, they will be found to be without foundation when the consumers actually begin using them.

To Coal Men
It is the after effects of such use that officials are talking about with the hope of showing the anthracite miners and operators that they may find themselves up against a crisis in their marketing conditions a year hence if they force an irritated public to burn soft coal, may be suggested, he found with patience as a measure of retaliation against the constant annoyances of coal strikes.

For one thing the transportation question will be a factor this year as it was last summer. The government expects to see all available fuel moved promptly. And if the truth were known the inside opinion here is that neither operators nor miners will let the strike, if it happens, last very long.

Mrs. Oscar Fleko entertained a small company of friends Tuesday night in honor of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Pabo, and sister-in-law, Miss Thora Tietze.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Durman and sons, Clifford and Leo, East Moline, Ill., returned to their homes Thursday after spending a few days at the home of C. F. Smith.

MADISON PAINTER IN CONFESSION OF BRUTAL MURDER

The painter had large sums of money about his neck, due to his distrust of banks.

After finishing their work the two rented an automobile and drove about the vicinity of Madison and later in the night drove to the Jaeger farm. Jensen declared he did not get any of the money taken from Jaeger, and did not know how much Galloway got.

The arrest of the two men came as the result of investigation which began when it was noted that the identity of the man who was wearing the shoes exactly authorities said, even to one having a rubber heel and the other being of leather.

The day following the renting of the automobile, the tires of which led to the arrest of the two men, Jensen went to the garage owner and asked him not to allow any one to see the contract he signed for the rental, according to William Flaherty, garage proprietor.

Chilly weather held down the attendance at the Bower City band concert of the Bower City band Wednesday night in the court house park. Several cars were parked near the stand and occupants listened to the program from the machines. Ten names were given for the aid of the director Burr Tolles.

At the instant of death

says the law, your property is yours no longer. The ownership of it passes to your heirs and representatives, subject to the conditions prescribed by probate law.

However, there is one thing that you can pass on to your wife, or husband, or someone else dear to you, without any of the complications or delay of probate law.

If you and your wife, say, have a "Joint Savings Account" in the Rock County Savings & Trust Co.—that is, an account in both of your names—either of you can, on the death of the other, draw the money as you wish. There is no bother or red tape or delay.

Such an account is an ideal means of providing for the wants of the bereaved during those most trying days. Start a Joint Savings Account with a dollar or two, and build it up until it becomes a real protection.

Premier Poincare on the Ruhr Occupation.

The answer of Premier Poincare to the note of Premier Baldwin (which was written by Lord Curzon) is more emphatic and definite than was anticipated. It is rather out of the usual class of diplomatic document since it tells in few words and very clearly just what France wants and expects. There is no evading from the original fixed and determined purpose of the French to collect the German reparations and to remain in the Ruhr until that sum is met. Denial is clear and emphatic that the Ruhr industries have been made impotent and that the occupation has impeded commerce or trade or development in that industrial section of Germany or generally. It will jar the self assertive, egotistic, overbearing and positive Curzon, to read statements like the one that "France has never repudiated her debts and never will but she is convinced that no British government will apply to an ally the pressure that the London cabinet does not find it possible to apply to the former enemies of France." That is fine sarcasm.

One gathers from reading such parts of the text of the Poincare reply, as have come over the cables that the Frenchman has the best of the correspondence and is so armed in justice and precedent that it will be hard indeed for Lord Curzon to make a further reply except to either break off diplomatic representation at Paris or back down.

Recognizing that Germany has purposely, for three years, as has been apparent to the United States, been annihilating its capacity to pay by maintaining a wretched mock currency and debased financial operations, as well as continuing the destruction of governmental properties, M. Poincare has sold ground when he states in reference to capacity to pay that "all expert calculations are useless."

Germany will obtain no satisfaction from the Poincare note. The scheme of Chancellor Stresemann for mortgaging the industries and property of Germany is apparently the only feasible method of getting out of the long-delayed payment of the price of defeat in the World War. The Stinnes and like multi-millionaires who have exploited the people and resources to their hurt and dominated the government most of the time, may realize that the game of delay is up and the fiddler waits outside and must be paid.

With so much negro immigration the melting pot will soon be able to call the kettle black.

The Corruptors of Youth.

Edwin Markham has written a forcible discussion of modern literature in the August Current History magazine, under the caption of "The Decadent Tendency in Current Fiction." Its subject might well call for rather plain talk and expression of opinion couched in temperate language. But it is a dignified and informing article stated in simple terms that no reader can fail to understand. "Modern society is slandered by the sex-obsessed and pathological fiction." Speaking of one book, by an Englishman, Mr. Markham calls the author an "anarchist in morals."

"The brains of Bedlam could not conceive a more revolting story and the fact that it has for the reader a certain glint of style makes one think only of a man who is forced to hold his nose in order that he may admire the iridescence of a decomposing fish."

"That sex contorted lives do exist in a civilization that does not give to its human mating even the care it gives to its race horses and prize cows, is a thing not to be wondered at. These abnormalities are taken as exceptions and not a view. It gives only a hectic and fragmentary view."

Markham needs more support in his view. We have been passing from worse to more of it in the current fiction offered to us on the news stands. Much of it is mere brazen smut without plot, rhyme or reason. It seems that each new publication makes an effort to see how far it may go without getting into the toils of the federal government and barred from the mails. It certainly is not literature. Most of it is crassly stupid. There never has been a time when parental care was so needed and home censorship so much in demand. Mr. Markham says of this hectic fiction in closing:

"There is an upward tendency and there is a downward tendency in life, and the pity of it is that these young radicals in fiction, with their crude knowledge of psychology and with their abrupt rejection of the spiritual fact in existence, are spreading a contagion that will tend to corrupt youth and to engender an enervating cynicism in all minds. They are unwittingly, perhaps, increasing the downward tendency in life."

HOW THE DUTCH GO AFTER OIL

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—The late President Harding, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and other leaders charged with the welfare of the American people have been insisting for some time that it is important for the United States to make foreign explorations and cement arrangements to insure a future supply of oil.

Although the latest figures of the United States Geological Survey show that oil is overproduced in the United States, this is regarded as a temporary phenomenon. So many wells now are producing that the immediate supply of petroleum is greater than the public can absorb, despite the fact that consumption is at a peak. The operators of the Los Angeles field in southern California, one of the richest of the new fields, went into an arrangement not long ago to restrict production to seven per cent because of lack of storage space and transport. The whole mid-continent field now is considering a month's suspension of production.

A cross section of the situation today would not indicate any need for seeking foreign oil sources, but the geologists agree that in a comparatively few years, American production will fall off heavily. Then we shall have to import part of our supplies of petroleum. If American owned companies do not already own oil fields in foreign lands, we shall be at the mercy of foreign companies and must pay prices for oil which will not be subject to the laws governing American companies.

So far not a great deal has been done by Americans toward actual discovery and exploitation of foreign oil fields, although several big American companies are looking around for new oil territory. It is a game in which the European companies got an early start. They have been at it for a long time. The best possible way to study how to get oil is to study the work of a company which has made a success at such a venture.

There is just so much oil in the ground. Some of it is available in one part of the world; some in another. When a field becomes exhausted, the consumer must look to another field. The plan therefore, is to have oil holdings distributed in various parts of the world, so that the exhaustion of one field will not leave him bereft of a source of a supply. It is a proposition of not carrying all his eggs in one basket.

One of the best companies to study to see how the trick is done is the Royal Dutch Company for the Working of Petroleum Wells in Netherlands India. This is too long a name for convenience, so the world has come to refer to this company as the Shell company. That is what it is called in Holland.—The Royal Dutch Shell.

The company first was organized as its name indicates, to produce petroleum in the Dutch East Indies; but the policy of spreading out and obtaining other oil sources was adopted early. Little Holland—not much larger than a Texas county by following such a policy, has done better than the Americans and furnishes an example that we must follow.

Holland does not use as much gasoline in a year as New York City alone uses in a week, but Holland will always be sure of that needed supply, and in addition the Dutch company will be selling at its own price, to the rest of the world.

The latest report of the Royal Dutch Shell gives an idea of the wide ramifications of its operations. The report shows where the company produces oil and how much. The home fields in the Dutch East Indies, in 1922, produced 3,232,723 tons, an increase of 1 per cent over 1921; the Sumatra (British West Borneo) holdings produced in 1922, 409,547 tons, an increase of 103 per cent. This is a new field in the Far East which is just coming into development and has doubled production in one year.

The company's Egyptian workings produced 172,623 tons in 1922, a slight decrease under the previous year. The Rumanian field produced 407,423 tons, an increase of 32 per cent; the Mexican field, 2,643,908 tons, an increase of 30 per cent; the Mexican field, 2,643,908 tons, an increase of 26 per cent; the Venezuelan field, 350,362 tons, an increase of 65 per cent; the American mid-continent field, 913,242 tons, an increase of 60 per cent and the American California field, 1,778,732, an increase of 153 per cent. Total production for 1922 of this one company from Little Holland was 8,990,354 tons compared with 6,450,983 tons in 1921.

The distribution of the fields is the intensely interesting fact. The two great fields of production owned by the company are at opposite sides of the earth. The home field in the Dutch East Indies is one and the American and Mexican projects the other. But the distance between is filled in. Egypt and Rumania have been exploited to get oil. If there were more land in the vast stretch of the Pacific, there is no doubt that that section of the globe also would have a Shell oil company producing petroleum.

While the American companies are just getting started in their foreign explorations for oil, the Shell company is taking more oil out of American ground than it is taking out of Dutch ground in the East Indies. If the Mexican production be added, it will be seen that the company is getting twice as much oil out of North America as out of the Dutch East Indian field.

But this list of operations does not complete the tale. This merely is the report of what actually is in production now. In addition, the Shell company owns Russian oil fields. These now are in the hands of the Soviets and have been nationalized. The company gets nothing from them, but sooner or later, Russia will have a big damage bill to pay.

With the earth girdled with Shell oil fields, the exploration does not stop. Jugo-Slavia is being searched for oil. Some work is getting under way in the island of Trinidad and geological researches are being made in Colombia. Three enterprises have been started by the Shell in the Argentine and now are engaged in drilling. This policy will be continued as long as the company exists.

This company works under different names in various countries. In the United States it is chiefly operated through the Roxane Petroleum Company, the Shell Union Oil Company of Delaware and the Shell Company of California. The Good Hope Refinery at New Orleans also is owned by the same interests.

Of telegrams from the United States congratulating him. Wonder if any were sent from Madison or Milwaukee?

Europe may be on the verge of war, but she is unable to buy a match with which to start the fires.

There is always a hot spell in September and it will come along just in time for the Walworth county fair at Elkhorn. That will insure another big and successful record of attendance.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE HERMIT.

Embittered by some early grief or hurt,
He turned his back to the world and fled.
Far from the smiling roads he built his shed,
Leveled his needs to trousers and a shirt.
Uttered no speech beyond a sentence curt,
And year by year alone he ate his bread.
Each June the birds sang sweetly overhead,
Yet still he grieved in the dim light.
Poor Hermit, frowning at the smiles of men,
Did you not trust that they all were foes?
Had you no faith to lean upon back then?
Scarce beats a heart that has not borne a blow.

These brave and singing men who pass along
Have all known grief, felt hurt and suffered wrong.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.

Our faithful correspondent Richmond Temple, writing from London comments upon the American appetite as follows:

Bacon and egg suppers are favored by Americans. The person responsible for the catering arrangements of a hotel here has to be prepared for any emergency—particularly at a time like the present, when London is full of visitors from every part of the world. M. Latry, the head chef, has been telling me a few things he has been asked for during the week. A party of fifteen ordered a dinner consisting of the usual hors d'oeuvres followed by salmon (a salt sausage), spaghetti, ravioli, and "frite misto"—a popular Italian mixed grill. French people invariably demand hors d'oeuvres of every description, and the English are particularly fond of grilled fish—usually sole—followed by a specially cooked entre-cote or some other meat. As for Americans, says Latry, they are a law unto themselves for food. Grape fruit, melon and other fruit, followed by bacon and eggs is a breakfast, but with a steak added, the same things have been asked for as supper.

It will perhaps be surprising to know that Capt. Fly, the gallant commander, operates a boat and not an airplane.

Lord Burnham told the British House of Lords that the West Indies are becoming Americanized. We thought they were becoming Scotchized.

Who's Who Today

REP. W. A. AYRES.

Representative W. A. Ayres of Kansas, a democrat, will represent a district which normally is republican—10,000 who hate his taste, his place in congress next winter. His constituents are still talking about Ayres' overwhelming victory.

He was elected to congress for the first time in 1916 and was reelected in 1918 and 1920 was defeated for reelection by 100 votes.

Ayres' biographical time. When the time came around to choose the representative from his district, last fall Ayres was a candidate again, and won out with a 15,000 majority.

Ayres was born in or near Ellipticthown, Hardin County, Ill., April 19, 1867, and became a resident of Kansas in 1883. He received his education in the common schools, Friends University, Wichita, Kan., and began the practice of law.

His first political office was as prosecuting attorney of Sedgewick County 1, 1906. He served two terms in that office.

He is married and has three children.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

HARD WATER AS A BEVERAGE

Hardness in water is due to the presence of soluble salts of calcium (lime) and magnesium chiefly. These salts form a curd with soap instead of a lather and therefore waste soap. Boiling removes what is called "temporary hardness," but does not remove the calcium and magnesium salts held in solution by carbonic acid gas which is driven off by boiling. "Permanent hardness" depends on sulphates and chlorides of calcium and magnesium and is not affected by boiling.

Rain water is soft. Surface waters are not usually very hard. Ground waters are likely to be quite hard. Waters drawn from limestone regions are not necessarily hard, especially if the catchment area from which the water has come is mountainous and barren, for it is largely from decomposing organic (vegetable) matter that the carbonic acid gas is derived, which is needed to dissolve out the hardness from the calcium and magnesium salts in the valleys and on the prairies is therefore likely to be hard.

Decided wasting soap—before the soap will make a satisfactory lather with hard water enough soap must be used to decompose the lime and magnesium compounds which are carried over in the laundry water. Some what trouble in boilers. Soft water is preferable for cooking vegetables. Hardness is not so great a hardship as it is commonly supposed to be. It is a softening outfit which take care of the problem in home, industrial plant or institution.

Hardness is not an objectionable feature in water for drinking purposes. If the water is pure (free from pollution) and satisfactory in taste, hardness is possibly even a desirable feature, for according to modern studies of human nutrition the ordinary diet of American town and city dwellers is more often deficient in calcium than it is in any other chemical element (not excepting iron); the body can utilize the lime of drinking water if there is a shortage of lime in the food. An adult's body contains more than a hundred pounds of water; one in health requires an average daily ration of two quarts of drinking water. We are told that one pint taken as a chemical constituent of solid foods.

A shortage in the daily calcium or lime ration is likely to entail serious health consequences.

The Riddle of the Spinning Wheel

By M. E. and T. W. HANSHEW

Being an Exploit in the Career of Hamilton Cleek, Detective
Copyright, 1923, by Doubleday, Page & Co., and published by arrangement with the Chicago Newspaper Syndicate of New York City.

"Return to Argon Castle, my dear young lady," by the route by which you left it, and leave things in higher hands than yours. Cleek returned gravely, as they walked back in the darkness, the motor thrumming a purring accompaniment to his low-pitched voice. "Never urge a criminal to flee from justice," he said, "but a promise of justice will find him—and make him pay the penalty all the more severely for his pains. Justice must be done in a civilized manner, and you, my dear lady, that is what we may call your task for tonight. These same judges who will mete out justice in a proper, unprejudiced fashion."

"But Ross—you think he is guilty?"

"Who knows? Time alone will tell. And his innocence will be proved if he is not urged to fly away from the outcome of his actions. I must ask you, too, a favor. Rather, I must exact a promise. Please leave Miss Duggan alone until after tomorrow."

"And then?"

"If I know aught of anything, he will be beyond the power of my assistance—and perhaps not in need of it," he replied quietly. "Here is the castle. Slip in, now, through that velvet gate that the traitor has used. I believe, and get back to the house as quickly as you can. I'll give you orders to the chauffeur."

She got out unsteadily, then stood looking up at him, her eyes glowing darkly in the frame of her pale, serious face.

"And you won't tell me who you are?"

"Something—something—something familiar about you, but I cannot place it. You won't help me?"

"To shake his head."

"Better let this right's doing be done in the hands of forgotten things, dear lady," he said, his hand resting for a moment upon her shoulder. "And if you know not who I am, I believe, and get back to the house as quickly as you can. I'll give you orders to the chauffeur."

She gave him a sudden inscrutable look from beneath her dark brows. Then she flung up her head.

"Of course. Thank you for what you have done."

Dinner Stories

A motorist was stopped by a policeman for speeding, whereupon he became angry and called the policeman

"That is nothing. Good-night!"

"Good-night!"

Like a shadow she was fleeing up the wide drive, her feet bare and the only sound upon it, then, even as she disappeared from view, Cleek turned swiftly to the chauffeur who sat in the front seat of the car, and clapped him upon the shoulder.

"Well done, Dollops, well done!" he rapped out with a soft laugh. "I thought, if you could not find any more reasons, you might try your countenance. You little bundle of indefatigability! How did you do it? I caught my meaning, didn't I? Deuced keen of you, I must say!"

Dollops grinned, and slipped his baggies into his pocket.

"Then I mustn't call a policeman an ass?" he asked.

"Certainly not," said the magistrate. "You must not insult the police."

"But you wouldn't mind if I call an ass a policeman, would you?"

"Why, no. If it gives you any satisfaction," answered his worship, with a smile.

The motorist turned to the man who had arrested him. "Good-by, policeman," he said, as he left the court.

When Gen. George W. Goethals, now in big business in New York, was building the Panama canal, he made it a point to be extremely courteous and obliging to visitors who wanted to go over the works. One day he showed a Mr. Campbell of Missouri around and followed his ruff of examining the engineering difficulties that had been encountered and overcome in the monumental undertaking. Popular relates.

"For several hours under a blazing sun, with the heat and dust to look after, Goethals gave him a lecture full of figures and technical details. Campbell, fixing a hawk eye upon his guide, looked as wise as an owl and as cross as a sponge, creating the impression that what he did not know about engineering in general and canal building in particular was being poured into his head."

That is to say, he was until Campbell, still with his look of absorption, looked straight at him and said: "Well, I tell you, colonel, all this has interested and delighted me tremendously, but what I wish you would explain is how the thunder you would explain into those locks without a pump."

I used to drink. She said that caused all of our trouble, and I quit it. Now things are worse than ever. She says she loves me, but it is awful. Please advise me.

PUZZLED HUSBAND.

I am afraid you do not get your wife's point of view and cannot see just how serious a matter your former drinking was. There is nothing which causes a wife more anxiety and apprehension, and no woman can be blamed for leaving her husband when her home life is made miserable because of that.

Since you have been married only two years, I judge that you have not been away from the drink habit for a very long time. Your wife probably loves you as she says, or she would not have returned to you, but she feels nervous about your friends and is afraid that you will be induced to start drinking again.

For a while at least I would advise you to keep your contact with your wife as a companion and try to enjoy her friends. She has your interests at heart. I am sure and feels that if you have your pleasure with her, you are not in danger of the drink vice. It is really for your own good that she acts as she does. Try to love her more for her interest in you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my late teens and am in love with a boy a year and a half my senior.

When we are together the sparks to care a lot for me and tells others that he cares for me, but after we have been together for a few times he seems to tire of me. Then when I go with some one else he wants me back.

He has done this three times now and each time I have left another friend who cares a lot for me and gone back to him. We have gone together about 14 months and I can't stand any more of this. I want to know what you can advise me to do.

I would not advise you to give up the boy who proves to be such a good friend simply to gratify the jealous whim of the boy you seem to love. There is no reason why you should not have both boys as friends. Doubtless your faithful friend would be reasonable about your going with his rival, and if the other boy for whom you care so much objects, he should not be considered. He has acted in such a way that he really does not deserve your consideration.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 22 years old and am desperately in love with a young lady two years my junior, but I am timid and cannot get up the courage to ask her to marry me. I think she is interested in me, but do you think I would be the best course for me to pursue?

WAITING.

A proposal is not as hard as it looks. Simply jump into what you have to say and the worst will be over. Tell the girl you love her and want her to marry you, and then ask her if she loves you and will marry you.

Don't pay any attention to what a book says. Likely the person who wrote it is an old maid and never had a baby. And the new mother, shivering in her ignorance, finds it easier to follow the advice of an old maid than her own family than to take a reputable book and go as it says. In the face of all the natural opposition. Some people have a terrible fear of doing things which they have not done before. They must be backed up by the experience of every other mother they know before they can find the courage to do it.

And the matter of course the only way to care for a baby is to follow some one's advice, one on whom judgment one can depend, either a doctor, a nurse, or a mother. A mother who understands babies and doctors differ in small matters, but these are of little consequence, but in all the big essential things they think alike. Read a half dozen books on babies and you will find little difference in the advice. One can follow one of the other and come out right. Just have faith that it is right and do it.

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married man 30 years old and my wife is 21. We have been married two years. My wife keeps me heartbroken all the time. I have tried every way to make her a home, but she gets a little angry and then leaves and stays two months at a time.

I have furnished a nice home. I work every day and bring my pay home and give it to my wife, but if I want to stop out for an hour or so to see some of my fellow friends she gets angry. Seek Funds for Buying Radio Set for Sanatorium

Purchase of a $350 radio set for the entertainment of some 20 patients in the Jefferson county sanatorium, Forest Lawn, is the object of a campaign being started by the recently organized Forest Lawn Good Fellowship club. Solicitations are being made in Rock and other adjoining counties, most of which have one or more patients at the Jefferson institution. "Contentment is the first requisite in a successful fight against disease, and entertainment is needed to secure it," says the appeal addressed to citizens of the several counties. "Many of us cannot attend the usual entertainments as some are confined to bed. We intend to install a radio set which may be moved from ward to ward, giving all the patients 100 per cent enjoyment."

"I sincerely hope you will do whatever you can towards cheer for the patients."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:

It certainly is too bad we have not more Pat Sains in Jamesville. Why, if Mrs. Bedell was so embarrassed as to not want to show up in court, was she out of such a late hour? Certainly not think she was such a lady as she was made out to be, with her expensive gown and some hoot around her. Just because they are so-called "big-brothers" from Beist with their hoots, why come to Jamesville and try to walk all over an officer? Pat Sain deserves extra pay for 10 days instead of 5 days without pay, and if the council stands for it, it is a great way to treat an officer. If they do, why not allow these hoots parties from other towns to do as they please when they come to Jamesville?

When an officer is not upheld in his duty, why fine Worthington and Bedell, who were not so dignified as they think out at such an hour and starting a fight on our main street? What do the city taxpayers pay police for if not to do their duty?

Pat Sain is too much minded a man not to do his duty honestly and every honest-minded man in Jamesville knows that. He has all kinds of public in right but not in wrong. If the council does not pay for the loss of his teeth, it certainly is not fair and Worthington and Bedell should be made to do so. It is too bad they had to pay a fine. Add a little more for the loss of teeth by an officer in the performance of his duty.

Legion's Annual Meet in October

As a result of action taken at the American Legion convention at Superior, officers of the Richard Ellis post of the American Legion are making plans to hold the annual meeting in October. In previous years it has come in January. A strenuous effort is being made to secure as the main speaker, Judge Kenneth M. Leland, Chief Justice of the General Terming. Chief Justice, secretary of the club, said.

The Truth About Eczema and Piles

"Thousands and thousands of people," says Peterson of Buffalo, "are learning every week that one 35-cent box of Peterson's Ointment will abolish eczema and Danish piles, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money."

"Use Peterson's Ointment for all skin diseases, eczema, chafing and all skin diseases. Druggists recommend it."

LA TEST MARKET REPORT

GRAIN

Chicago. Grain futures were easy today during the early dealings, September wheat leading the decline. Trade was light with offerings influenced by lower cables and improved weather conditions. About 400 cars of wheat were expected today. Live stock quotations were lower on a reported sale of Russian wheat at France, equal to $1.10 a bushel. Opening prices here which ranged from 1/2 to 1/4 lower with Dec. 1/4 to 1/4 and May 1/4 to 1/4 were followed by a little rise and then a slight general decline.

After a brief spell of liquidation in September, corn, all grades, attached down fractionally lower prices compared with yesterday's close, wheat at the finish being off 1/4 to 1/2, with Dec. 1/4 to 1/4 and May 1/4 to 1/4. Heavy liquidation was on September corn and prices declined sharply with each loss order uncovered on the way down. Selling was general with buying scarce. After opening 1/4 higher, each quotation was lower to 1/2 the corn market underwent a general decline.

Demand for corn later improved and the decline checked. September rallied about 2 cents, while the new crop, down fractionally lower, registered fractional losses. The close was weak at a net loss of 1/4 to 1/2, with Dec. 1/4 to 1/4 and May 1/4 to 1/4. Oats sympathized with wheat, starting unchanged to 1/4 off with Dec. 1/4 to 1/4, the market quickly began to ease.

INDICATIONS are beginning to pop up that bowling will take an early and heavy start this fall in Janesville. The outlook even now, at so early a period, is that in the neighborhood of 80 league teams will be rolling. The Chevrolet folks came out with the announcement Wednesday afternoon that they are planning a 16 team circuit. The Lakotas are talking about 12 teams. The Industrial-Commercial loop may go as high as 20 teams. Then there are the Knights of Columbus, the Elks, the Lions, Rotary club and Moose, all of which contemplate going into the game heavily. There is going to be a big scramble for a league. Even with the new ones of Grebe & Newman, the old ones of the West Side and at the Arcade will be kept going with all their own hands. There are signs, too, that the women will take a strong interest, inasmuch as the state women's pin tournament will be held here following the men's meet.

CATCHER and second base are the two most important positions on the baseball field outside of the pitcher. These two positions are the most important in the game. The catcher is the big item, of course, but the nature of the instructions given to him by the pitcher is often the deciding factor. The catcher can hold up the pitcher in a pinch or he can break him. The catcher is the main cog in the team. He has the opportunity to see everything and so instruct his mates by signal and other tips. The second baseman is a very important man. He may do wonders in working with the catcher. He has opportunities of exchanging signs not only with the catcher but with the pitcher. He is in a position to see everything and so instruct his mates by signal and other tips. He may do wonders in working with the catcher. He has opportunities of exchanging signs not only with the catcher but with the pitcher. He is in a position to see everything and so instruct his mates by signal and other tips.

LUIS ANGEL FIRPO is said to be his own business something about that side of the athletic arena, for he has tied Tex Rickard up to two contracts to meet him. In one event he defeated (2) Dempsey. On the other, there are other stipulations in case he loses to Jack. Then again, perhaps he is not so good a manager, a fact that can be determined only by a look at the papers. But, this point is true, viz., by losing to Dempsey, Firpo is not so good a manager. By quick thinking and snappy talk he may throw all kinds of encouragement into his team mates and give advice that will save a play.

Three shots of four, and got nothing. Ruth won in 11th. Cardinals in Boston, 3-1, Genewelle pitching brilliant game for Cardinals straight victory, knocking in three runs.—Fast fielding, including three speedy double plays, helped.—In St. Louis, St. Louis Americans won two from the Red Sox.

Platt went 12 innings, Red Sox tying in ninth with two runs, and each side getting one run in 11th.—Senators defeated Indians 5-1, in straight victory, knocking in four runs and four in last, winning in rush after being led by one run.—Eddie Rommel's pitching too much for White Sox and Philadelphia. 3-2. Miller's single, his steal of second and hit by Welch deciding game.—Thurston fanned six men on four balls, three of them on nine pitched balls.—Washington pulled triple play against Cleveland, with Judge on starting end.—With men on first and second, this Speaker shot over the fence, Judge grounded it, touched first, doubling Connelley and then threw to Peckinpaugh, who retired Jameson before he could return to second.

"Art" Granger Takes President's Golf Cup, 1 Up

PLAY NOT DECIDED UNTIL LAST STROKE IS SENT TO HOLE

"Art" Granger, member of this year's Janesville team in the southern Wisconsin-Northern Illinois golf tournament, is the president's cup champion of the Janesville Country club.

"Art" won the beautiful trophy by defeating Burns Brewster in an 18-hole match on Wednesday, 1 up. It was a great fight. These two evenly matched players had previously played to a tie in the finals and Wednesday's battle was to decide the play-off.

Not until the very last stroke was Granger certain of the victory. He was closely pressed by Brewster and the match went back and forth, even up, and a little this way or that, throughout.

It was necessary for Granger to make a birdie five on the last hole. He had three feet to do it in and a slight error in his stroke, this way or that, might have cost him the honors. But, he took it nicely and cupped the ball.

As far as known, this is the closest cup match, and the hardest fought, of any ever held at the local club.

Brewster played par or near par golf all the way through. He had low medal score.

Beloit Picks Junior Team for State Swimming Meet

At least four Beloit juniors will compete in the state amateur swim meet, which will be held in Rock River here on Labor day. It was announced Thursday morning, Fred Kessner, Dan Kessner, Devlin Wade and Ralph Johnson have been picked by Dr. Somers, physical director of the Beloit swim team, to compete in the best meet here.

This quartet of kids, all 16 years of age, will compete in the 100 and 50 yard dashes and the 50-yard breast stroke. The youngsters showed well at the Phantom Lake aquatic meet this summer and are expected to go strong in the events here.

Selection of the senior team to represent Beloit has not yet been made. This probably will be done before the week is over. Swimming tests are now being conducted for these lads.

Two more Janesville juniors have entered. John Jarvis will take part in the 50-yard breast stroke and the 50-yard dash. Harold Miller will try his luck in the mile.

Entries are expected to start pouring in in larger numbers from now until Labor day. Every corner of the state is hearing about the meet and the talk is greater this year than last.

Beloit entry than in 1922 will be seen on Rock River. Boys for putting the course and other protective measures are wanted. Get in touch with A. B. Bergman, physical director of the local swim team.

Madison—With a track still slow from the rain of Tuesday, Aimer, a black mare owned by Omer Amundson, Beloit, was the only Wisconsin horse to take a first in the first day of racing at the Dane county fair Wednesday.

The animal took three heats, registering its best time in the second with 2:13 1/2 in the 2:14 pace. Wisconsin broke a couple of inches from the rest of the state towns little competition in the other events.

Events Friday, the closing day, are the 2:10 trot, 2:20 pace, 2:24 trot and 2:30 trot.

Motors Plan 16 Pin Teams

Plans for a 16-team bowling league are being made at the Chevrolet plant. It was announced Tuesday afternoon by L. A. Markham, personnel director of the big plant.

"We are now lining up the men and expect to get started by 15th of September," he said. "Our only worry is whether we shall be able to get the alleys. With all the bowling that will probably come this fall and winter, there will be a grand rush for the drives."

Big Saturday Game Drawing Interest

What team of the city industrial league will be picked to represent Janesville in a southern Wisconsin factory baseball championship game on Sept. 1 will be decided at a meeting of league captains Thursday. The gathering will be held at 8 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. building.

36,000 Seats for Badgers

Madison—Work on the north section of the University of Wisconsin athletic stadium is going forward rapidly, according to the contractor in charge, with every prospect that the 36,000 additional seats will be completed for the first game of the season, against Coe College, Oct. 6.

The additional seats will bring the capacity of the stadium to 36,000 for this fall's football games, and enable the athletic authorities to care for the larger crowds which have been assembling for football games during the recent years. Last year the seating capacity of the stadium was not able to accommodate those who came here for games. Hundreds remained away because of the congested condition.

When the work now under way is completed, the north end of Camp Randall will be completely enclosed. Nine tunnel entrances to the section will be open, eliminating much of the congestion which has marked the handling of football crowds in the past.

The program for coming years contemplates a double deck of seats, which will bring the total capacity of the field to 68,000. Just when this work will be completed cannot be determined, Mr. Jones said, until the funds from football have been counted. If the sport continues to attract the crowds it has in the past, the work will be completed, probably within the next five years.

Milton Outfit Defeats James

Port Atkinson—The Milton Sluggers defeated the Port James company nine, 4 to 2, in one of the hardest and best games of the season here Tuesday. A change of Milton—Ded the James boys eating from his hand at all times, allowing but four hits and fanning 12. Foreman caught a good game for Milton. Whitney pitched a good game for Port, but the breaks were against him.
